STERN

SEEBURG

PRESENTS

Laser games'

INCREDIBLE

ATOMIC SUB

©LASER GAMES, WHOLLY OWNED SUBSIDIARY OF LASER DISC COMPUTER SYSTEMS; CAMBRIDGE, MA.

Stern Electronics and Laser Disc Computer Systems are pleased to present the next generation in state-of-the-art coin-op excitement!

Atomic Castle breaks new ground in laser disc technology to provide true game play and control as never before. With eye-catching production values comparable to feature films, Atomic Castle uses dazzling live action footage combined with advanced computer-generated effects in an adventure guaranteed to have players coming back for more.

Atomic Castle brings to life an incredible multi-dimensional world of conquest and survival. Players must begin by traveling down the ramparts of an ancient, alien fortress. Menacing targets fly out from the star-filled void of deep space as players battle against time and an ever-rising radiation meter which could result in potential doom.

Once this initial assault wave is completed, players enter the safety of the first of three decontamination chambers in the Atomic Castle. These dramatic interludes provide brief rest periods to award special bonus scoring values, as well as possible 'super secret' bonus points for exceptionally skillful play.

On level two the action shifts to the inner hallways and chambers of the Atomic Castle. All scoring values are automatically increased as players are confronted with an unbelievable legion of Knightbeasts and other creatures.

With scoring values further increased, Atomic Castle continues to unfold its intriguing storyline when players are pushed to the limit against Terminus the Master Cyborg. This alien force is protected by a special gravitational energy field. Players must break down the defensive shields of this all-powerful being, as well as devise a strategy to successfully counter the Master Cyborg's time dilation effect. Five times he will rise from the brink of destruction to continue the one-on-one battle.

And for those cunning enough to make it past Terminus, one last challenge remains — to defeat the forces of Solaris. Rising up from a platform in the Atomic Castles nuclear vault is the ultimate doomsday device which can only be neutralized and disarmed if the proper code can be entered before time runs out.

Stern Electronics and Laser Disc Computer Systems have created a sure-fire winner with Atomic Castle. For the first time a laser disc game plays like a conventional video game with all the proven money-making ingredients to ensure high earnings and long term player appeal at any location!

Atomic Castle. . .the unique coin-op experience players will keep coming back to again and again. . .

FOR SALES, CONTACT YOUR NEAREST STERN DISTRIBUTOR